OHIO BABY SOON FREED

Victim Discovered by Fence Half Hour After Theft From Crib

SUFFERED MINOR INJURY

Stolen After Parents Had Ignored Repeated Demands for Ransom

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE, O., May 18 — Half an hour after being stolen from his crib two-year-old Eugene Swearingen was found wrapped in a quilt behind a rail fence 500 yards from his home at Warrenton near here last night. He had a bruise over his left eye but will recover. The kidnaping followed three demands for $500 made upon his parents.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Swearingen, had been watching the child closely but late last night they heard a noise in their home which they attributed to the dog and did not investigate for a few minutes. When they went to the crib the child was missing.

Village Joins Hunt

The entire village of Warrenton, about 200 population, turned out in a search of the surrounding country. Shortly the child was found behind the fence. Officials expressed a belief the child either had been struck by the kidnapers or injured when dropped across the fence.

The father told officers he had received three notes during the past two weeks demanding $500 under a threat of kidnaping the child. Being without the funds the father kept a close watch over the child.

The last note officials said was left in Swearingen's automobile yesterday morning and demanded that the money be hidden under a plank at Scott airfield at Yorkville, O., about four miles from Warrenton.

Swearingens have six other children.

Swearingen, who has been unemployed for several months, turned the last note demanding money over to county officials. It read:

Bring $500 to Yorkville airport Wednesday night at 11:45 bring a plank and put money under plank and dont bring any law with you. Dont fool us or we will get one of your babies.
(Signed) Sil—Al—14 102

Acquainted with Family

County officials said they believed the kidnaping was the work of someone acquainted with the Swearingen family.

Entry to the Swearingen home was made through a rear window.

Swearingen formerly worked at the Wheeling steel plant in Yorkville.

Premier Returns Home.

LONDON, May 18—Prime minister Ramsay MacDonald, who recently underwent an eye operation, left the nursing home today and returned to his official residence in Downing street where he had lunch before going to Lossiemouth, Scotland, to complete his convalescence. Dr. W. S. Duke Elder examined Mr. MacDonald's right eye—the one operated on—and decided the prime minister could safely leave the nursing home.

Vote Kidnap Penalty.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The Cochran bill providing for the death penalty or life imprisonment for kidnapers was approved today by a house judiciary sub-committee.

TAX ON BEER REJECTED BY SENATE TODAY

Lydings Bill Loses by Overwhelming Majority in Upper House

DEBATE OVER PROPOSAL

Progress Rapid on Budget Balancing Tariff Row Anticipated

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The senate today refused to legalize beer. The first senate roll calls for beer since prohibition brought overwhelming defeat.

The main vote was on an amendment by Senator Tydings, Democrat of Maryland, to the revenue bill to legalize 2.75 beer and tax it 24 cents a gallon to help finance a $1,500,000,000 public construction program.

Just previously the senate had turned down 60 to 23 a proposal by Bingham, Republican of Connecticut, to alter the Tydings amendment to make it allow four per cent alcoholic content.

Eleven Democrats voted with 12 Republicans for the Bingham four per cent amendment.

Elated by yesterday's rapid progress, senate leaders protected carefully the delicate structure of the budget balancing measure. Immediately after the impending decision the row over including tariffs in the bill was expected to break loose. It is considered probable the most troublesome issue involved in the whole bill with only the sales tax threatening to rival it.

Last night's session was devoted to the beer debate resumed Monday. Tydings argued legalization of beer was the way to provide against want and unemployment next winter. Senator Sheppard, Democrat of Texas, the prohibitionist leader, in a brief but emphatic reply, denounced alcohol as injurious and warned the senate that no member could vote to legalize beer without violating his oath to the constitution.

The income tax provisions of the compromise bill was approved as written in the bill.

POPE ISSUES PLEA FOR WORLD PENANCE

Calls for Period of Prayer To Save Humanity from "Peril of Terrorism and Anarchy."

By The Associated Press

VATICAN CITY, May 18—Pope Pius XI in an encyclical issued today called the world to prayer, penance and mortification to save itself from the peril of terrorism and anarchy and the still graver evils that are threatening.

For this purpose he set aside a period of eight days for reparation on the octave of the feast of the Sacred Heart beginning June 3.

He abjured the faithful to abstain during the eight days at least from entertainments and amusements however lawful and urged that those in easier circumstances give to the poor the proceeds of this retrenchment.

In the encyclical entitled Charitas Christi—Christ's Charity—he lists the causes of the present evils that are crushing humanity.

SATURDAY DEADLINE FOR TRAVEL BALLOTS

No Votes Received After Closing Time of Stores Will Be Counted

Ballot boxes for the Marion travel contest votes will be collected Saturday night. With only three more days in which to cast votes for the more than 260 contestants the race for the awards—14 five-day free trips to New York City, Washington, D. C., Alexandria, Va., and Mount Vernon — is growing warmer every day.

The ballot boxes will be removed at the closing time of each of the participating stores. A representative of one of the contest sponsors, the Marion merchants, The Star and the Erie railroad, will be at each store Saturday night and will remove the boxes immediately following the closing of the doors.

No votes received Monday morning will be accepted. This ruling will not apply to votes mailed to the participating stores and bearing Saturday's postmark. Votes mailed in and postmarked Sunday morning will not be counted.

Contestants have been urged to inform their friends to mark their votes immediately after making purchases and deposit them in the ballot boxes rather than to wait and give them to the contestant.

Blames Physical Defects for Mentality Ailments

Ohio Physicians in Convention in Marion Hear Dr Sawyer Trace Contributing Causes of Mental Disturbances, Meeting Will Close Today

Mental diseases more and more are being traced to physical defects, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer of Marion told 100 physicians and surgeons during this morning's session of the sixty-eighth annual convention of the Ohio State Eclectic Medical association.

Dr. Sawyer's talk was one of several on the morning program of papers and discussions. The convention adjourned in a group to the Sawyer Sanatorium for luncheon at noon, returning to Hotel Harding early in the afternoon for the final papers and a business session which will close the convention.

Dr. Sawyer's talk dealt entirely with mental cases but he repeatedly traced the trouble in these cases to physical ailments. Automobile accident injuries often precede a mental disturbance, Dr. Sawyer said. The injury however can not be blamed for the mental condition but for giving the condition a better chance to manifest itself, he explained.

Exhaustion deleriums and alcoholic psychoses in mental cases growing out of the effects of alcohol are increasing, he asserted.

Six talks scheduled for yesterday afternoon's session were carried over to this morning. They were by Dr. W. B. M…er of Tiffin on Neurasthenia; Dr. H. I. Dwire of Bucyrus on Chronic Colitis; Dr. George Hile of Toledo on Acute Cystitis; Dr. F. M. Wright of Coshocton on Angina Pectoris, and Dr. W. J. Lehr of Arlington.

Other talks given this morning were by Dr. Morris Human of Cincinnati on Ozena and by Dr. C. E. Schimpf of Cincinnati on Management of Foreign Bodies in the Eye.

Trio Escapes After Looting Cashier's Cage Vault and Victim's Pockets

Posses Patrol Roads as Hunt Spreads for Caldwell Holdup Men

By The Associated Press

CALDWELL, O., May 18. Binding four bank officials and seven customers with rope, three holdup men escaped today with $25,000 from the Noble County National bank here. They looted the cashier's cage, the vault and the pockets of their victims.

Entering the bank the robbers menaced the officials and customers with pistols, herded them into the president's office and bound them with the rope they carried. They then searched the victims and took all valuables.

A systematic search of the vault and cashier's cage followed and all currency was removed. Bank officials said they were unable as yet to ascertain if any of the bank's bonds are missing. The safety deposit boxes were not disturbed although they were in the looted vault.

Noble county officials said the robbers devoted from five to 10 minutes to the search for money and they walked to a waiting automobile in which they fled toward Marietta. A few minutes later a posse found the automobile abandoned at the edge of the city and received a report from a farmer that his automobile was stolen by the holdup men.

The bank was locked up immediately after the victims were liberated pending the arrival of a finger print expert to examine the possible clues left by the robbers. Bank officials said they were fully protected by burglar insurance.

Hastily organized posses were sent out by officials to patrol the roads at Marietta, Zanesville, Cambridge and other surrounding cities.

CURTIS ASKED LINDY TO DEPOSIT MONEY

$25,000 Was Sought as Down Payment, Evidence of Good Faith

By The Associated Press

NORFOLK, Va., May 18. The Norfolk Ledger Dispatch said today that John Hughes Curtis, hoax negotiator in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, had requested Col. Lindbergh to deposit $25,000 in a Norfolk bank as an evidence of good faith and down payment on the ransom for the return of Lindbergh's baby.

The paper further declared Dean Dobson Peacock, another of the Norfolk negotiators, flew to Hopewell on March 28 to advise Col. Lindbergh of a demand made by the alleged kidnapers for earnest money.

Dean Dobson Peacock refused to comment on the report.

"I know nothing about it," he said. "That is all I can say."

When asked if he could deny or confirm the report he reiterated that he knew nothing about it.

JAP PARTY HEADS ASK COMPROMISE

TOKYO, May 18—Leaders of the Seiyukai party decided today to offer the olive branch to the army and proposed a compromise on a coalition party government to succeed the cabinet of the slain Premier Inukai.

The compromise proposal followed an ultimatum from the army yesterday demanding a non-partisan national government.

At the same time, it was indicated the controversy over the new cabinet would not be settled until the last of the week.

CURTIS POINTED OUT AS DOUBLE-CROSSER

New York Bootlegger Charges Norfolk Man Defrauded Him of Money

By The Associated Press

MINEOLA, May 18. Inspector Harold R. King of the Nassau county police said today that one hour before John Hughes Curtis confessed his whole story about the Lindbergh kidnaping hoax he was confronted in Hopewell with a Long Island bootlegger who charged him with having double-crossed him in a deal involving a substantial sum of money.

King said the bootlegger was found by John Fogarty, a private detective employed by Col. Henry Breckinridge, Col. Lindbergh's friend and attorney.

He withheld the name of the bootlegger.

The man's story, according to King, was that last December he paid Curtis a substantial sum of money with the understanding that Curtis was to use it to purchase influence for him with the authorities at Norfolk. This he said Curtis failed to do.

After Curtis entered the search for the Lindbergh baby, King said, the bootleggers started among his associates in the vicinity of Norfolk an investigation of Curtis.

Federal Prosecution of Curtis Unlikely

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Meager prospect of federal prosecution of Charles Hughes Curtis, confessed hoaxer in the Lindbergh kidnaping, was seen today at the justice department.

It is up to Paul W. Kear, U. S. attorney at Norfolk, to take whatever action is possible. There is no present intention to send him directions from here.

It has been suggested that the Curtis confession might be considered as disclosing an attempt to defraud the government of its functions, an offense covered by the criminal code.

It was under this that former Attorney General Daugherty was indicted and later cleared. It was explained today, however, that although it is good legal theory to claim the code applies in the Curtis hoax, the chances of conviction appear slender.

POLICE CHECK ALL MOVES OF "NEGOTIATOR"

Seek To Determine Where Fake Intermediary Was Night of March 1.

AT HOME WIFE ASSERTS

Watched To Guard Against Suicide; Arraignment Likely Today

By The Associated Press

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 18. John Hughes Curtis, fake Lindbergh baby negotiator, is being watched closely by the police for fear his remorse may tempt him to commit suicide, a high official revealed today.

Curtis' every movement is being watched, it was stated.

At the same time it was revealed that Norfolk, Va., police had been checking the movements of the shipbuilder on the night of March 1, the date of the Lindbergh kidnaping. Mrs. Curtis at Norfolk said that her husband was at home that night.

Mud scrapings from a green sedan owned by the bankrupt shipbuilder were taken to determine whether any Jersey mud clung to the car.

Only Car Found

Investigators here said Curtis was evidently describing his own car when he asked police to look out for a green sedan. A search here resulted in the finding of only one car of this description and this one officers said was his own, which they found parked at his boat building plant.

Gov. A. Harry Moore of New Jersey announced today that all police work, state and federal, is now coordinated and all forces are swinging along with the same purpose in view.

Gov. Moore said it was probable that Curtis would be arraigned today after a complaint had been sworn out against him by the police. A state charge if made, the governor said, would probably be that of making false statements, which in effect means hampering the ends of justice.

Possible Federal Charge

There were reports here today, also, that Curtis would be charged by the federal government with hampering the functions of the government on the strength of his story the coast guard patrolled the coast.

A report disseminated by a news service (not the Associated Press) that Curtis had actually attempted to take his life was officially denied.

Major Charles Schoeffel, assistant superintendent of state police, made the following statement through John Leary, secretary to Gov. Moore:

"We had information from a confidential source in Norfolk that this man (Curtis) became involved in financial difficulties and attempted suicide and after receiving that information for his own protection we placed a guard over him 24 hours a day. He has neither attempted suicide nor has he had an opportunity. He is still being detained for questioning."

Questioned Through Night

In his mid-morning news bulletin today Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police, said that questioning of Curtis, who faked a story of negotiations with the baby's kidnapers, continued during the night and was to be continued today. No particular developments resulted from the night's questioning.

After he had issued his morning bulletin Col. Schwarzkopf was

"Jafsie" Fails To Pick Man

By The Associated Press

MT. VERNON, N. Y., May 18.—Dr. John F. Condon, "Jafsie," Lindbergh case negotiator, left police headquarters here this afternoon, after examining 1,000 rogues gallery photographs without finding a clue to the kidnapers with whom he had negotiations. Dr. Condon indicated that his scrutiny of the pictures gave "no encouragement."

Chief Believes Curtis Knows More

By The Associated Press

NORFOLK, Va., May 18—Chief of Police S. W. Ironmonger said today he did not believe that John Hughes Curtis had made a complete confession regarding his fake negotiations in the Lindbergh case "and that he has withheld something important."

Chief Ironmonger would not give any indication of the nature of the information he said he believed Curtis has withheld. The police official also refused to say whether he had learned that Curtis had associates working with him to fake the negotiations.

No new information, he said, had been obtained here by Norfolk investigators who have suspended their work until further developments or requests from New Jersey authorities.

STOCK MARKET IS IRREGULAR

Shares Move in Narrow Range Gaining and Losing at Intervals

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 18—The [illegible] market [illegible] hesitant [illegible] today, failing to venture far in either direction.

The list eased off in the early dealings, firmed up later in the morning and again showed easy tendencies in the early afternoon.

Temporary gains of [illegible] a point or a point appeared in American Telephone, American Can, Allied Chemical, Eastman, Union Pacific, American Tobacco B and [illegible]man. U. S. Steel, General Motors, General Electric and Standard of N. J. were fairly steady. Woolworth, Liggett and Myers B, Corn Products and International [illegible] were [illegible] sagging a point or so.

Maintenance of American Telephone's $9 dividend rate had been rather freely predicted, although not long ago there was considerable discussion of a possible reduction to $5 to $8 to bring the rate more closely in line with earnings. Softness in Liggett & Myers stock was connected with advance estimates of the April cigarette production figures, due to appear shortly, and expected to show a sizeable shrinkage from last year. In some quarters it was rumored that selling of Woolworth was coming from abroad.

Germany's foreign trade figures for April again made a somewhat adverse showing [illegible] of particular interest [illegible] the forthcoming Lausanne conference, when it has been clearly [illegible] German[y] will assert that she can not resume reparations. [illegible] April exports exceeded imports in the month of about [illegible] were some $10,000,000 [illegible] for March, while imports [illegible] from about $90,000,000 in March to $106,000,000 in April, traced [illegible] increased buying of food and materials.

Setbacks in Liverpool Quotations Influence Market at Chicago

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 18—(AP)—Renewed setbacks in Liverpool quotations, wheat prices here sagged early today, but buying on resting orders caused rallies. There was no aggressive pressure to sell. Opening at a shade to ⅛ decline, Chicago wheat later rose all around to above yesterday's finish. Corn started at ⅛@¼ off to a shade advance, and subsequently scored general gains.

With hot dry weather prevalent over the [illegible] winter wheat territory where as to moist conditions were desirable, bullish traders gained some advantage at times and showed a disposition to emphasize likelihood of only a small crop, especially as the damage area appeared to be extending east. In some quarters efforts were made also to capitalize as a bullish factor the senate vote [illegible] on a resolution to legalize beer with a tax estimated to yield $500,000,000. How much of the buying of wheat could be attributed to this source was difficult to ascertain, but gradually the volume of purchases broadened, and the market at one stage showed a full cent advance from yesterday's bottom figures.

Prospects [illegible] southwest in the last 48 hours were a distinct handicap to wheat bears. Liverpool [illegible] lake freight rates from Fort William to Montreal. The [illegible] cut [illegible] as compared with [illegible] recently, and with [illegible] season. Corn and [illegible] with wheat.

STRIKE SETTLEMENT PLAN FROWNED UPON

Miners, Operators Against White Proposal To End Wage Dispute.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND O May 18—Possible failure of Gov White's plan for peaceful settlement of the wage strike in the eastern Ohio coal mines loomed today as representatives of the operators and miners both expressed dissatisfaction with it

The governor's plan a 6 point program of arbitration involving a year's truce and a new wage scale was made public yesterday

Although the scale suggested by the governor appeared to be only slightly higher than that proposed by the operators their spokesman said it was not acceptable

The governor urged a minimum day wage of $4.25 and a minimum wage of 48 cents a ton for loading machine mined coal In comparison the schedule of the operators was a minimum day wage of $4.00 and a maximum wage of 35 cents a ton for loaders

At Athens Herman Thelsen Sr chairman of the wage scale committee of the United Mine Workers said the governor's program was unsatisfactory because it left the miners without protection if the operators desired to discharge them He also said the wage scale left too much difference between what a loader and what a day worker might earn

IT WAS expected yesterday that the building strike in New York would be settled and that 30,000 men would return to the earning of good wages, amounting to $300,000 a day for the 30,000 That is good news, for this is hardly a time for prolonged strikes or refusals to arbitrate.

bottled cancer cell with the X-ray weakening it to the point where it can not for several months or even years break down the walls of the bottle and again begin to spread into the system

Growth Halted

While this process can not be termed a complete cure in every case cancer itself never has been cured in all stages in the opinion of Dr Dunton Cancer however can be arrested or its progress and spread can be halted for a number of years, he said

The removal of cancer by ordinary surgery Dr Dunton explained is apt to result in spreading the cancer cell The boiling action of the electric knife precludes this danger he said

Stereopticon views of patients before during and after the electrosurgery and X ray treatments were shown during the discussion Histories of other cases treated in this way were reviewed in support of the method

Dr Bowles and Dr Dunton have been using this method of treatment successfully for five years keeping photographic and laboratory records of their cases Dr Dunton said They will present their papers at the national Eclectic association convention in Little Rock Ark next month

Prominent Chemist Here

One of the most prominent convention visitors yesterday was Dr John Uri Lloyd of Cincinnati one of the world's foremost chemists and honorary life president of the association His message was brief and inspirational He declared that he is willing to be called an Eclectic and said that the Eclectic school is and should be made up of idealists

The ideals legends and intangible things in our lives live on long after the material things have vanished he declared He stressed the importance of preserving the ideals of the profession

He commented on the reopening last year of the Cincinnati Eclectic school of medicine after the school had been closed several years stating that the closing of the college for a few years only served to emphasize the importance of having it open

So crowded was the afternoon program that nine papers scheduled were carried over to the Wednesday session The afternoon session was devoted to the practice of medicine with Dr E M Wright of Coshocton president in charge assisted by Dr H I Dwire of Bucyrus

Dr H W Lent and Dr T W Lent of Coshocton opened the afternoon session with papers on heart trouble [illegible] papers in [illegible] a general discussion about heart trouble Dr T W Lent in a [illegible] stated that inflammatory rheumatism can be blamed for between 30 and 40 per cent of all [illegible] This was followed by [illegible] of infantile paralysis by Dr W N Mundy of Forest

POLICE CHECK ALL MOVES OF CURTIS

Seek To Obtain Complete Record of Fake Negotiator's Acts.

asked whether Dean H Dobson-Peacock who was associated with Curtis and Rear Admiral Guy Burrage would come to Hopewell or Trenton Schwarzkopf had invited the minister to come voluntarily for questioning

'Rev Peacock has been asked to come to Hopewell, Schwarzkopf replied 'However we have not heard from him as to the time of his arrival '

Asked whether Curtis would be arraigned today Schwarzkopf said Final disposition of Mr Curtis has not been decided as yet ' He added he would endeavor to announce any plan to take such action two hours in advance

Account of Hoax

Police called it an enormous deception to which Curtis 47 year old boatbuilder confessed late yesterday History showed few hoaxes so detailed and none more cruel

Curtis under guard of state police today and awaiting decision by prosecuting officers as to what charges if any are to be made against him admitted

That his whole story of contacting the kidnapers of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr was a figment of his imagination

That the deception was practiced not only against the sorrow burdened parents of the murdered baby and against the entire world but even against his two fellow townsmen who served with him as intermediaries '

And that his trips in naval planes his journeys to sea on a private yacht and his mysterious 'contacts' with the kidnapers killers were concoctions of untruths brewed in a finance frenzied mind

Asks Forgiveness

In a statement admitting the falseness of his whole story which he wrote himself and signed he asked the forgiveness of Col Lindbergh for 'the inconvenience worry and injustice I did him in this time of grief '

'For the last seven or eight months" his statement said I have not been myself, due to financial troubles '

Curtis a Norfolk Va boat builder went bankrupt several months ago

Other members of the Norfolk trio whose negotiations in recent days have held promise of leading the law to the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby were the Rev H Dobson-Peacock Episcopal clergyman and Rear Admiral Guy Burrage retired Curtis statement exonerated both of them It said however that "Dean Dobson-Peacock could have prevented this trouble from me when I went to him first, but instead encouraged me '

The clergyman has been requested to come here and tell his story At Norfolk early today he said he would reply to the police request today He said he was mystified at Curtis reference to him Admiral Burrage who was drawn into the affair because of his acquaintanceship with Col Lindbergh had nothing to say

Vague on Some Points

Curtis somewhat confused statement indicated his object in the hoax was the acquisition of money by the sale of his story to newspapers and news reel companies He said he had received large offers from each His purpose was defeated by the insistence of those offering to buy his story that the child be produced and the negotiations completed

This was impossible for there were no negotiations save those in Curtis head—and the baby lay murdered

There were other developments in a night that marked one of the most hectic weird and almost unbelievable chapters in the entire history of the case

The Bronx grand jury started its inquiry into the payment of $50,000 ransom money by another intermediary—Dr John F Condon—to a man who represented himself as acting for the kidnapers Condon himself was not called before the jury He is to tell his story Friday

'Disastrous" to Jafsie

Condon whose negotiations for the return of the baby led him despite his 72 years into adventures in strange places—the silent Bronx cemetery where he paid over the ransom money the bay where he took a ducking in the cold water while seeking to renew his contact and to journeys in the dead of night following the lure of messages given him by a mysterious veiled woman—said the Curtis hoax had been disastrous to his own efforts

He said that publication of a statement attribute to Curtis that Col Lindbergh was willing to pay through him $100,000 ransom had caused the kidnapers to drop their Bronx negotiations and seek greater gold through Curtis

All the story hasn't been told yet said the retired school master He indicated that he still was hopeful of leading the law to the gang that got the $50,000 ransom money supplied by Col Lindbergh from him

A Monterrey Mexico report that Harry Fleischer much discussed Detroit Purple gangster had been arrested and had confessed the kidnaping was quickly denied by Monterrey police

Curtis confession typed under the very roof of the parents the hoax hurt most seemed not to calculate the additional consequences the deceit had caused It expressed regret for 'inconvenience' caused Colonel Lindbergh but it said nothing of the expenditure of time and money and the risk of human life it incurred

It made no mention of the fleet of coast guard craft which flung itself out to sea to search for the fishing schooner that sailed only in Curtis imagination

I never knew such people as I named to Colonel Lindbergh the boatbuilder confessed setting it down in his own typewriting They were creatures of a distorted mind

Tells of 'Awakening'

Curtis said he was brought back to my senses a few hours before the confession was made by a telephone conversation with his wife who told him of the trouble she was having and how the children missed me

History has set down other hoaxes but none perhaps so revealing of elaborate detail Curtis invented a phantom ship He placed aboard her a phantom crew He gave them names and he gave them aliases He sailed his ship with her crew of abductors extortionists and murderers up and down the Atlantic seaboard—into inlets along the coast line and into Long Island Sound He invented engine trouble for the craft and arranged repairs He fabricated motorcars on shore conferences in hotel lobbies and cafeterias and telephone and telegraphic messages with women agents of the ghost crew and he described these women in detail—even to the kind of dresses they wore

With the Curtis clues shot down like a brilliant toy balloon arrowed by an accurate bow the police were left today only with the story of Dr Condon and with their own found clues to hunt the baby killers

I would know the man I paid the money to—know him in a thousand, Condon said

But the days lengthen—and the killers have not been found

POPE ISSUES PLEA FOR WORLD PENANCE

Calls for Period of Prayer To Save Humanity from "Peril of Terrorism"

themselves into the abyss the fortunes of countless others.

"Profiting by so much economic distress," he said, "and so much moral disorder the enemies of all social order, be they called Communists or any other name, boldly set about breaking through every restraint.

"This is the most dreadful evil of our times, for they destroy every bond of law, human or divine; they engage openly and in secret in a relentless struggle against God himself; they carry out the diabolical program of wresting from the hearts of all, even from children, all religious sentiment, for well they know that when once belief in God has been taken from the heart of mankind they will be entirely free to work out their will.

Sees Turn Against God

"Thus we see today what was never before seen in history, the satanical banners of war against God and against religion brazenly unfurled to the winds in the midst of all peoples and in all parts of the earth."

Of exaggerated nationalism the pontiff said: "There is no excess that will not seem justified."

Arousing this love of country, he said, leads to hatred, driving all to destruction. "Sacred principles are trampled upon and polluted."

Referring to the unequal distribution of wealth he [illegible] that previously he had advocated energetically a more equitable distribution of the goods of the earth to restore health to the ailing social body.

"If we pass in review," he said, "the long and sorrowful sequence of woes that as a sad heritage of sin mark the stages of fallen man's earthly pilgrimage from the flood on, it would be hard to find spiritual and material distress so deep, so universal as that which we are now experiencing.

"Even the great scourges which have left indelible traces in the lives and memories of peoples struck only one nation at a time. Now on the contrary the whole of humanity is held bound by the financial and economic crisis so fast that the more it struggles the harder appears the task of loosening its bonds."

In Deplorable State

Deplorable as is the present state of affairs he said the root from which they spring is still more deplorable.

The right order of Christian charity, the pontiff said, does not disapprove of a lawful love of country and a statement of justifiable nationalism, but the abuse of these insinuates itself into the relations between people and people.

He pointed out that impious men were never lacking, but said previously they had been relatively few and isolated and [illegible] not caring to reveal too [illegible] their impious minds.

"Today on the contrary," he said, "atheism has already spread through large masses of the people—well organized [illegible] itself it makes use of its own cinema films, of the gramophone and the radio. It has formed its own political parties [illegible] own economic and military [illegible]."

The leaders of this [illegible] of atheism turning to [illegible] the present economic [illegible] quite with diabolic [illegible] into the cause of this universal [illegible].

These assaults the pontiff said are directed not [illegible] the Catholic religion [illegible] all who still recognize [illegible] as the creator of heaven and earth and absolute lord of all [illegible] insane hatred they [illegible] produces neither [illegible] nor peace for any class of society but will certainly [illegible] nations to disaster.

Only through [illegible] of penance, the pontiff said, can stable peace be made [illegible] on earth.

But to [illegible] of lasting peace [illegible] neither peace treaties [illegible] most solemn pacts [illegible] meetings nor conferences [illegible] even the noble [illegible] of efforts [illegible] will suffice [illegible] place the recognition [illegible] right of natural [illegible].

No [illegible] no power [illegible] will be able to bring [illegible] to a peaceful [illegible] the very [illegible] there triumphs [illegible].

PLAYLET PRESENTED AT MISSION MEET

A playlet "The Door Opens to a Bird Woman in China" was presented at the meeting of the Go Ye Therefore Foreign Missionary society of Epworth M E church last night. The members were guests of Misses Mildred and Pauline Durel of 288 [illegible] street. Those taking part in the play were Miss Kathryn Gelbaugh, Miss Lois Snodgrass and Miss Elizabeth Pace.

A short business session preceded the program hour which opened with devotionals in charge of Miss Mary [illegible] Miss Althea Miller gave a reading "In Due Season [illegible] Reap." A contest was enjoyed during the social hour, honors going to Mrs Edwin Cherry. Refreshments were served. The teachers will be guests at a [illegible] June 16 at the home of Miss Althea Miller of 425 South [illegible] avenue.

Good Will Tours.

Marion was favored yesterday with the privilege of having 140 Columbus business men as its guests. They stopped here for two hours on the fifth annual good will tour of the Manufacturers & Wholesalers association of Ohio's capital city

Primarily of course this is a commercial enterprise intended to promote the interests of the concerns represented in the Columbus organization. But it yields many benefits in addition to that and the benefits are not confined to Columbus alone. The communities visited by these progressive and energetic business men do or at any rate should profit from the contact

This group of trade leaders from Columbus is not going about spreading gloom or emphasizing depression. They bring a message of enthusiasm and optimism and that is the sort of tonic needed today

They are also exemplifying neighborliness and cooperation

The same plan followed by the Columbus organization in which it sends its representatives on a good will tour over a wide area each year possibly would be feasible for smaller cities though on a less extensive scale. Exchange of visits among business men in neighboring communities ought to be mutually beneficial. It seems that new ideas could be gained through friendly contacts between merchants operating similar lines making possible a discussion of their common problems and their methods of handling them

In good times or bad it is always possible to learn something from the other fellow

The Japanese Way.

Assassination of the aged premier of Japan Ki Inukai, is reminiscent of that of Paul Doumer president of France in one way. In each case there is an added shock of brutality that men so old and helpless had to meet death violently for political reasons

Premier Inukai's death has thrown Japan into that dangerous state of uncertainty from which important governmental changes result. He was only one man an individual though a highly respected one. It is the political significance of his death that occupies his countrymen

His party the Seiyukai was one of the two strongest in Japan. It was the majority party. His cabinet now resigned was considered to be more friendly toward the militarists than its predecessor in the government the Minseito. Yet it is believed to have been opposition to the late premier's moderate policy that caused his assassination

It is interesting to note further in this connection that in foreign affairs the Seiyukai had acknowledged its belief in a policy of armed intervention in China. Its defeated opposition stood for peaceful industrial penetration. The explanation of such seeming inconsistencies of popular thought and political policy is the Japanese state of mind which is not unlike that prevailing in the United States. The public is disheartened nervous mad about everything and [illegible] with nothing

Despite this similarity of popular attitude there is little possibility of Americans understanding the present political situation among the Japanese. For instance the assassination of the head of the government here would be the signal for days of devoted mourning with political significances kept in the background until full honor had been paid to the memory of the victim

In Japan where there is no vice president to assume office immediately upon assassination of the government's head it is the other way round. The first thought is of politics mourning for the victim is incidental. Another difference is that in the United States demands would be made immediately for the death of the assassins. The young men who terrorized Tokyo and killed their nation's premier will be given only nominal punishment probably. Chances are even that they may be hailed as national heroes [illegible]

There are many differences between a nation which was built on democracy and one which has acquired it. Japan is far from perfect in its use of popular government—further than the United States. This nation [illegible] does not have to resort to [illegible] to change its government if there [illegible] fort in that figure of speech

Despite difficulty of grasping the Japanese mood in the present instance Americans can not afford to take their attention from Japan in the next few weeks. Events of vital significance are happening and will happen with breath-taking rapidity. Japan is beginning to reap some of the whirlwind contracted for when her national leaders decided to sell merchandise in Manchuria and China proper with Japanese soldiers acting as unequivocating convincers.

The Beer Parade.

It is likely that when the history of prohibition in the United States following 1920 is written there may be confusion about the beer parade that enlivened New York City last Saturday. Nothing can be done about that. A brief digest however can keep the current event record straight

The parade was not as big as its sponsor Mayor James J. Walker hoped it would be. Observers were unable to give the size. Some said 25,000 others 100,000. It was a parade of good proportions

All the people who marched in it were not in agreement with its purpose but most of them didn't know why not. It was thought of as a beer parade. In reality it was a beer-for-taxation parade which is something quite different. The shorter name won out. It drew the crowds

The parade was commercialized extensively. Marchers bore signs in one hand proclaiming their desire for beer and signs in the other hand proclaiming their need for business. The Maine Stein Song was heard most frequently. How Dry I Am second most frequently and The Stars and Stripes Forever was a poor third

The spirit of the occasion was festive. It was a beautiful spring day a joyous Saturday afternoon and everybody was doing it. A parade for the promotion of black cotton stockings for charwomen would have succeeded in drawing a crowd too. In other words contemporaries would like posterity to be certain if the matter ever comes up for discussion that Jimmy Walker's great beer parade in 1932 was a happy occasion and showed the world what it already knew—that a lot of people would like a glass of legal beer. Contemporaries also would like posterity to remember whatever happens between now and then that the parade proved absolutely nothing and did absolutely no good to any one except a [illegible] in an unexplored section of the [illegible] who had been playing with the idea that people didn't like parades any more. He [illegible] admit he was wrong

There are many Ohioans who continue to belittle the primary system as an unsatisfactory plan for making nominations but it is too much to surmise that there are few critics now in the ranks of anti-prohibitionists

WHEN TO LEARN TO SWIM

The adventure of Robert Stringer in Sandusky Bay Sunday is one of the best arguments one has seen for teaching more boys and girls to swim

Possibly there is not so much need for such lessons now as there was a few years ago. The youngster who gets through his teens without learning to swim is in a distinct minority

But Robert who is only 8 had acquired swimming ability at an early age even for these days and put it to use with equal promptness. Thanks to his ability to swim and not get panicky Robert and his father are both alive. Robert swam to a mud flat on which he could stand and then began to shout. About be it noted not cry. His shouts brought help for him and his dad. One hopes he'll continue to adopt a similarly sensible course in whatever other difficulties life may present him from time to time

Meanwhile his example should impress upon many other boys and girls as well as their parents the great advantage of learning to swim before one is tumbled into deep water. Cleveland Plain Dealer

IF RUSSIA WERE KANSAS

The tribulations of the Russian farmers under the soviet system as described by Dean Edgar S. Furniss of Yale university in Current History suggest a homely comparison. Suppose communism had come to Kansas. Two years ago the government controlled by city workers would have decided that it was time for the farmers to go collective or largely to give up their ideas of private property. The farmers would have been forced to accept communism against their will by pooling their land into great collective farms. But rather than turn their cattle over to common ownership they would have slaughtered between a third and one half of all the animals in Kansas

[illegible] to what lengths the farmers would [illegible] communism the government then would have suspended temporarily its campaign of force and tried persuasion. It must be remembered that this city controlled government would be perfectly sincere in thinking it knew what was best for the farmers of Kansas whatever they might think or do. But this last winter the method of persuasion would have been abandoned again when it was discovered that there was a shortage of grain both for the cities of Kansas and [illegible] Individual farmers would have been [illegible] before the authorities and punished for hoarding grain. Their live stock as well as grain would have been seized and when [illegible] attempted to leave the state they would have been shot down by border guards

That is what would have been happening if Kansas were Russia. But the blessings of communism have been denied the Kansas farmer and perhaps providence can be prevailed upon to refrain a little longer from bestowing them. Kansas City Star

Symptoms of Gland Diseases.

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

Goitre is the general name applied to all enlargements of the thyroid gland. There are several varieties grouped under this heading and they have various widely different symptoms

Young girls at the very beginning of adolescence often show marked enlargement of the neck. This condition is most frequent in the delicate and undernourished and especially common when the person has been subject to anxiety and overstrain. This form of goitre often shows no symptoms other than the unsightly enlargement of the neck

While this simple goitre does not usually produce nervousness or loss of weight a more serious form of disturbance may sometimes develop. Often goitre disappears when the patient reaches the age of about 25 years particularly if the health can be improved and the environment is favorable to rest and nerve repose

The thyroid gland secretes thyroxin a substance that has a powerful influence on the human body. When the thyroid is overactive, nervousness loss of weight chronic fatigue and rapidity of the pulse appear but when the secretion is deficient various forms of mental disturbances occur. The most extreme manifestation is found in young children and is known as cretinism

This latter disease is peculiar to certain parts of Switzerland and India. The normal development of the child is arrested at an early age. The head grows large the body is dwarfed and misshapen and the tongue becomes large and often protrudes. The afflicted child is far below normal in intelligence. The administration of thyroid gland preparations may do much to improve the condition of the patient although [illegible] ever approach a normal mentality

Insufficient thyroid secretion may occur in adults between the ages of [illegible] and 50 years. The symptoms are anemia loss of strength vague pains accompanied by a harsh dry skin dry and brittle hair mental torpor, and various other symptoms that may be recognized by a physician. Treatment consists of replacing the diminished secretion of the gland and often results in wonderful improvement

Graves disease or exophthalmic goitre is a definite disease [illegible] quite distinct from simple goitre or from functional disturbances of the thyroid

In exophthalmic goitre the eyes become prominent the heart [illegible] increased and nervous irritability [illegible] marked. Fatigue develops [illegible] weight [illegible]. The treatment [illegible] goitre is surgical because the [illegible] thyroid is not only increased [illegible] toxic in its quality —Copyright 1932 King Features Syndicate Inc

Paris Interested in Cats.

BY ALICE LANGELIER

International News Service Correspondent

Paris May 18—The cat has most decidedly been having its day in Paris recently. The Persians [illegible] the Siamese [illegible] breeds [illegible] exhibited [illegible] record [illegible]

[illegible] Vienna. Their home [illegible] to be of [illegible] was here [illegible] Persian cats [illegible] at $750

A sacred cat from Burma was a very prominent [illegible] appearance together with [illegible] Siamese cats of all shades and all [illegible] colors of Angoras

One of the most attractive cats of all was [illegible] belonging to Miss Constance Brigham daughter of Mrs. Errol Frank Brigham of Paris and New York. He is a huge white [illegible] already well known to cat fanciers [illegible] the number of blue ribbons he has carried off. Of course he walked away with one of the big prizes this year, and this means two ribbon winners in this American household for Miss Constance herself took the Le Touquet blue ribbon last September for the most perfect child specimen

Her grandmother Hawaiian Princess Liliuokalani who used to sing Madame Butterfly at the Opera Comique here was also exhibiting at the cat show with some fine Siamese cats and kittens

One of the most curious exhibits was a team of nondescript cats carried on the payroll of one of the largest department stores in the city for the destruction of rats and mice. They are not much to look at being of all shapes and sizes but they are said to be the finest team of rodent destroyers to be found anywhere in Europe and earn their board and keep hundreds of times over

Dr Lepinay of the city health board who spoke at one of the cat conferences said that the day when Paris has 80 felines for every 100 houses there will not be a single rat left in the capital and not a single case of plague

Not present at the cat show was the four footed feline who was unable to resist the temptation to steal women's silk garments on every occasion and who has finally been arrested

For weeks past the police of Palisance a small city suburb had been baffled by a series of petty thefts particularly of silk lingerie and what not which happened to be around the boudoir. One of the victims placed a trap on the window sill each night and always found a big tom cat struggling with silk in it in the morning

Finally the police commissary was forced to believe that it had been trained to perform this duty and has put the cat behind the bars. The owner is still at large

A Seneca Chief's Reaction to Religion

BY F H GALBRAITH

A story of his conversation with a Seneca Indian chief whom he met on his preliminary visit to eastern Ohio with a view to locating an Indian mission set down in the diary of David Zeisberger Moravian leader shows the attitude of the Indian toward the Christian religion as the Moravians were trying to present it to the Indians

Near an Indian town which must have been in western Pennsylvania Zeisberger came upon this Seneca chief standing before his wigwam. With dignity and courteous mien he met the missionary and invited him to eat within his wigwam while his two Indian guides were served outside. Where was Zeisberger going and why? To Goshgosching which is evidently the Indian original of our Coshocton and to present to the Indians there the Christian religion. Zeisberger explained to him. Was it not a commendable object?

No replied the old Seneca bluntly and when the missionary had quoted characteristic words from the Gospels and asked his host if they were not good words the Seneca answered No not for Indians. They were men the same as the white but God had created them different given them game for food and this they must take where they could find it but as for the Scriptures they did not have them and could not understand them if they had. They were too difficult for them

Zeisberger made no progress with this Indian until he came to the story of Jesus. That attracted him so much so that before the conversation was ended he apologized for having spoken too bluntly and in opposition to his enterprise in the beginning. He expressed the belief that he would find the Indians at Goshgosching also interested in his missionary movement but he felt bound to say that they were a bad lot and much given to the practice of sorcery as all the religion they needed

A Washington Daybook

Washington May 18 — With the states clicking off ratification of the [illegible] lame duck amendment to the Constitution changing the dates for sessions of [illegible] and inauguration of the President—[illegible] to look as if some sort of a record [illegible]

Twelve state legislatures have been in session since the passage of this proposed amendment and at present 12 have ratified [illegible] and a general assembly is in [illegible] month

But on Jan 1 1933 33 state legislatures [illegible] be convened, and since it requires [illegible] approvals to make it law there would [illegible] to be a good prospect that before [illegible] elapses the necessary number may [illegible] bag

"But I was speaking of that fellow, my valet," the old man pointed out, and the sly grimace that was his smile, made her blush anew.

"It doesn't seem fair to come to conclusions about a man I've only seen twice for a minute or so. But—"

"You don't like the look of him? Don't trust him?"

"It might be better," said Jenny, unwillingly, "not to trust him in a matter of great importance. But that's only my opinion."

The strange old man lay back upon his pillows, wriggled twice—whether with satisfaction or annoyance Jenny could not tell—and remained flat upon the bed. She could barely see him and when he spoke she had the greatest difficulty in following his words; for he was not using his dreadful nerve-racking squeak but a monotonous thread of sound that blended with the rustle of brocade at his opened windows and the sound of the satin coverlet under his hands.

"My wife was so very like you, little Miss Jenny. You've got her same tricks and graces and her same sound judgment under all that pale gold hair. Only, I wouldn't listen to her, d'ye see? Shut her up, laughed at her, cowed her, and then, when she was gone, found that she had had the right of most things. People she warned me against and people she believed in, she was right about them all and I was wrong. But you're not so timid as she was. You speak up—you stand up to me—I couldn't cow you without—without meaning to. Eh?"

"Well, I had the advantage of a very bullying old grandfather," explained Jenny conscientiously. And they laughed together—Jenny Revell and the old man who, people said, hadn't a heart. On impulse, she put out a hand to cover his as it plucked at the coverlet. "Please shout at me, if you'd rather. I shan't care a scrap."

How thin and cold old people's hands were! — she remembered Grandfather's being like that and on nights as hot as this. She slipped her other hand under it and cradled it gently, trying to give out her own thrilling warmth.

"Old bones, cold bones," muttered Gratton Matching, as though he read her thought. "What's between you and my great-nephew Aveney?"

She began to draw her hands away but he retained them with surprising strength. All her vitality seemed to flow out from her and into that strange, compelling old creature whom one could love and detest all in one breath.

"There's nothing. That is — we dislike each other."

"He thinks badly of me and I'm not free to defend myself. But as we're not likely to see anything of each other, his opinion doesn't matter to me. He simply doesn't matter at all."

"My wife said that of me once, when we had a courting quarrel. She had spirit, then."

"We haven't—it isn't—you're all wrong about everything." She dragged her hands away, crying out, "I shall make him apologize and then I shall forget—" Her voice broke and she had to stop.

"Who's shouting now?" inquired Gratton Matching and wriggled flatter in the enormous bed.

In spite of her misery, Jenny laughed. He really was like a mischievous old wizard, lying there half-hidden, baiting her, drawing her out! It was a pity that Georgie should hate him and fear him and so lightly deceive him. It wasn't dignified, all this secrecy and intrigue about Eddie....

"All this nonsense about you marrying my pilot, Townsend," said the Old Man and, gasping, Jenny shrank in her chair. Magic, this—or else he really could read her mind!

"That's what has come between you and Garth Aveney, all this nonsense about Townsend," concluded Gratton Matching. "Do you like butter-scotch?"

"No, I hate it," Jenny answered, too bewildered to be polite. "I don't really eat any sweets."

"Nor do half the people I give them to, but they're such sheep they daren't say so. All the same, little Miss Jenny, I know what you like, and I'll have them next time you come and see me. Tomorrow. You'll come tomorrow, I dare say. You might come every day."

She could not decide whether it was a request or an order or a prophecy. But she forgot that he had bewildered her and angered her and teased her and, bending down, she put her lips to his frail cold hands.

"Yes, I'll come as often as you want me to," she promised him. "And now I must go and look after—after Eddie. Good night."

She believed that he was laughing as she left the room. At her? At Eddie. Georgie would maintain that the Old Man knew well enough which of them had married his pilot. Perhaps she was right and the mocking old laugh was a sign of it.

But why should he have spoken of Garth Aveney? He had talked as though it were she and not Georgie whom Garth had loved at first sight. And—and at dinner, Garth had talked like that, too.

She had barely a glance for the butler who proffered her shawl and put her into the big car that, he assured her, waited her pleasure. She knew only that she must get home to the apartment and ask Georgie—many things.

Georgie stood on the stairs and watched Jenny go on her way to dine with Gratton Matching. A shimmer of silvery green and a flash of jade and she had vanished from sight. Georgie was left face to face with something that she had never admitted to herself before—that her little cousin was not a child, not an enchanting little plaything, but a woman grown. A very lovely woman.

Georgie took out her powder and lipstick and lavishly repaired her complexion. She wished that she had not lost her temper with Jenny; not only because there was after all no reason for her jealousy, but because she had planned to come home cool and competent and to be a tower of strength to Eddie and Jenny as well. And now she was actually crying!

It is useless to dust powder over cheeks that are wet with tears and so she sat down on the stairs for a moment and waited for the old control over her nerves to return. She could hear Gill downstairs in his office, moving heavily about and she could hear the muffled noises of the street outside, the hootings and grindings of the cars and the cries of the children on the pavement. For some odd reason, she remembered that at this hour Eyla street was on the very edge of twilight and that Jenny, funny kid, loved watching the dusk.

She shivered but got up, and turned resolutely up the stairs. Face things, face things!—cried her courage. Face the fact that Jenny isn't a child and that Eddie always really wanted a home-loving little wife who would leave all the adventuring to him. Face the fact that Eddie can't go adventuring at all, for a bit, and that, being a man and illogical, he will want a home-living wife all the more!

She faced all these truths and, with her head up and her reddened lips smiling, she ran up the flight that led to her apartment. Nevertheless as she laid her hand on the door and heard a step on the inner side of it, she darted away and up the next flight, and stood there panting while Eddie opened the door and came out onto the landing.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, May 19

THE astral operations ruling this day point to great liveliness and activity in all business and private affairs. There is encouraging sign of new undertakings or the renewing of contracts with large corporations mergers or secret bodies; and while there may be some advantages there may also be disappointments or postponements. It would be unwise to take too many chances or to speculate or squander funds. Personal extravagances and excesses are warned against. There may be a sudden flair for unusual research or practical occultism.

Those whose birthday it is may be led into a year of unusual expenditure or personal extravagance with inclinations to speculation, gambling or taking unwarranted chances. There may be new contracts or fresh undertakings, especially in connection with corporations, rings or secret societies or through subtle connivance or intrigues. A leaning toward curious occult or uncommon adventure is shown. Private affairs partake of the same baffling and perplexing nature. A child born on this day may be extravagant and fond of unusual adventures.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Compelled to Reveal Her Secret Knowledge of Plotting by Owen and Brixton.

I HAVE BEEN SWAYED by many emotions concerning Lillian during my long years of friendship with her—love, admiration, pity, rarely irritation—but as she swept toward me with her demand that I tell her what I had been keeping from her, I felt fear for the first time.

Not fear of physical violence. I think I would have welcomed that as a part punishment for the thing I had done, which in my present state of mind seemed to me to be not only a heinous sin against our friendship, but an action that might well endanger the very life of her child. Yet I put into speech the only defense I had.

"Lillian! You must believe me, I never thought of this possibility. What I kept silent about was another possible attack on the bank. I did not want you worried!"

The Secret Is Revealed

Her fingers were gripping my arm now, hurting me cruelly, though I knew unconsciously, but I welcomed the pain.

"Will you tell me everything you know about this thing?" she demanded hoarsely. "What you thought can wait. My child has been kidnaped, and you stand there."

Mary sprang forward swiftly, and my heart was warm at the look on her face, impassioned, sympathetic. She was coming to my defense, but I shook my head at her.

"I will tell you everything, at once, Lillian," I said quietly, but—" I choked back a request that she take her hand from my arm, but I think she saw me wince involuntarily, and she dropped her hand.

"I am half mad, Madge," she said; but I interrupted further speech.

"Hugh Grantland came to me the day following our dinner dance," I said measuredly, "and brought me a queer letter or statement from Lee Chow. He gave it to me only on Lee Chow's condition that I say nothing concerning it to anybody. Foolishly I promised, but I am going to break my word now.

"The letter was a record of a conversation between Sam Brixton and Charles Owen while they were in a bedroom at The Larches, that was overheard by Lee Chow. It was because he forced himself to listen against his instincts, that he did not want anyone save me to know."

"Charles Owen! Sam Brixton!" Lillian said hoarsely. "Have they dared? But—that can't be, for they have taken Carolyn, too. But go on! Hurry! What was in that letter?"

I drew it from a hidden pocket in my handbag, where I had kept it ever since Hugh had brought it to me, and handed it to her. Then I followed her in imagination through every well-remembered word of that conversation, where Owen had told of his failure with Marion and his resentment of my part in spoiling his plan, and Brixton's hesitating acceptance of the proposition to "leave everything" in Owen's hands. When she had finished it she folded it and looked over at me with cold, accusing eyes.

Madge Tells All

"If I could have seen this when I started, it would have saved me hours of agony," she said.

"I don't understand," I said, and I was indeed bewildered, for to me this conjecture of Marion's being in Charles Owen's power was most terrifying.

"If Charles Owen has them, with Sam's connivance, they will not be harmed," she said. "They will count upon our fear for their lives, but there will be no real danger, unless Owen kills Sam first. Sam is a villain, but he is not that kind of one. I am certain of it.

"But, Madge, I cannot understand. This is not like you. This has been in your possession ever since that dinner dance, and you have done nothing to thwart these men. Or have you?" Something in my face evidently brought the quick, sharp query.

"What I could," I said, "or rather what Hugh could. You remember he left The Larches the next day?"

"Yes," she said breathlessly. "Go on!"

"Hugh went directly to the vicinity of the Brixton camp," I said, "prepared to watch every movement of the two men. He [illegible] a letter by Lee Chow which he received the very day we were leaving for the city. [illegible] I can repeat it for you."

I recited Hugh's [illegible]. When I had finished [illegible] two hands on my sh[illegible] looked steadily at [illegible].

"So Hugh [illegible] has been watching the [illegible]," she said. "[illegible] about altogether [illegible] the job. But Hugh [illegible] about it [illegible]."

"He does," I said. "I [illegible] before we [illegible]. Mary put the [illegible] through."

"I can't forgive [illegible]," she said. "But I can [illegible]. However have you [illegible]? Harry and Dicky must know of this. Do you want to tell them [illegible]?"

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT EXTRA RICH IN VITAL FOOD ELEMENTS

Laboratory Certifies the Improved Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit

Before the new Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit was introduced, the Kellogg Company submitted it to the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia, which found it so rich in food value that every package could be certified.

This means that mothers can now know definitely that their children are getting a well-balanced food whenever they serve the new Kellogg biscuits and milk—rich in minerals, vitamins, proteins—nourishing and healthful.

And Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits offer many other features. The biscuits are "pressure-cooked" by a special process that bakes in the delicious flavor. At the same time, it retains all the valuable food elements of the whole wheat.

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are much crisper and tastier because they are toasted a tempting brown on both top and bottom—not just one side. They are baked in a more convenient, economical size. Two biscuits just fit the cereal bowl—and you get 15 to the package.

Naturally, this tasty new biscuit is welcome for breakfast, lunch, children's suppers—any meal, in fact. Ready to serve with milk or cream. Sold by grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

No. 1 Church League Off on Another Blistering Race

IRISH NINE STOPPED BY LEE STREET, 4-3

Calvary Trips Epworth, 1-0, Bishops Down Lutherans, 6-0; Presbies Wallop Baptists, 14-1.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

Each season for the last [illegible] years the title race in the Sunday school softball circuit has been getting tougher and tougher. This year is going to be no exception. Results of the first two sets of games make it almost certain the league will have an even hotter campaign for the championship this year than last when the crown was not won by the Irish until the final game of the season.

Two of yesterday's four tilts went into extra innings and both of these overtime battles were decided by a one run margin. Lee Street and St. Mary's battled through 10 innings before Lee Street finally pushed across a tally in the last of the tenth and edged out a 4-3 victory over the defending champions. Epworth No. 1 and Calvary put on a nine inning exhibition that finally saw Calvary walk off with a 1-0 decision.

The other two games yesterday were not so hard fought. Presbyterians team [illegible] Trinity Baptist 14-1 and [illegible] Bishops rubbed out a 6-0 win over the Lutherans.

Gunder vs. Richards

Gene Gunder and Jimmy Richards staged a lusty hurling duel in the 10 inning battle between the Irish and Lee Street, Richards finally gaining the decision. Both flingers were stingy with their hits, Richards allowing the losers only three safe bingles while the winners collected nine off Gunder in the 10 frames.

Richards was at his best on the mound yesterday and his support was also clicking in a manner reminiscent of the 1930 season when Lee Street finished runner-up for the city championship. One error was charged against the winners and it did not contribute to any of the Irish tallies.

Lee Street took the lead over the Irish by a 1-0 margin in the second frame and held the lead until the seventh when St. Mary's drove in one run to tie it up. Each team scored two in the eighth and Lee Street put together a double by Kerr Conkle and a single by Bennie Crabtree to force across the winning marker.

Calvary and Epworth No. 1 took nine full innings to settle who had the best team and as soon as Calvary had sneaked across a single run in the ninth to gain the honor Epworth announced the game would be protested on account of alleged illegal pitching and base running.

Robbins Pitches

Calvary has been crying for a pitcher all season so yesterday Fido Robbins took it upon himself to answer the entreaties. Hurling in a style almost like that of the [illegible] Columbus [illegible] Robbins set the [illegible] in rapid fire [illegible] allowing a total of two hits [illegible] did a neat bit of [illegible] but unless the [illegible] is big hearted [illegible] of runs [illegible] being gotten off two [illegible] consequently [illegible] won't [illegible] anything that even looked like [illegible] first base. He was simply throwing them through [illegible] and depending on speed [illegible] the batters.

Calvary's [illegible] run came in the first half of the ninth when Willie Ballinger reached first on an error and crossed the plate on Messenger's sizzling double to center. With one run lead Robbins set the Methodists down in order in the last half of the ninth to end the game.

King Goes Tough

With Jack King, giant rookie twirler, pitching masterful ball all the way, Bishops had little difficulty in subduing the Lutherans 6-0. King gave the losers exactly one hit in seven innings, that a clean single driven through the box by [illegible] Feltz in the fifth inning. King had perfect control, not walking a man. Steaming them across the plate in great style he forced nine Lutheran batters to strike out. Feltz was the only man to reach first and he never got any farther.

Ellie Montz contributed a home run to the Bishop cause in the third frame. Don Atkinson playing third base turned in a nice performance cutting off a lot of potential Bishop hits with his clever third basing.

The Presbyterians had their heavy artillery trained on Hap Applegett all through the game with Trinity Baptist smashing out a total of 17 safe hits off the big right hander's delivery. Eight were of the extra base variety. Shoemaker gave the losers seven hits but kept them well scattered.

RED BIRDS CHALK UP VICTORY OVER TRIBE

Columbus Blasts Out 11-4 Win, Kansas City Trips St. Paul, 8-7

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 18.—The Columbus Red Birds, American Association unit of the St. Louis Cardinal group, are beginning to show signs of getting somewhere in the championship race.

The Birds today were in fourth position, six percentage points behind Minneapolis, and their accomplishments of the past two days did nothing whatsoever to help Indianapolis in its efforts to hold the league lead. Columbus tripped the Indians Monday and came right back again to win 11 to 4.

The Blues defeated St. Paul 8 to 7 but had to spend 11 innings in doing so.

Minneapolis, which set and three times has equalled the Association record of six homers for one game, broke out with another blast of five circuit drives to defeat Milwaukee 16 to 14. The Miller homers were made by [illegible] Moore, Joe Hauser, Spencer Harris, Ernie Smith and Wes Griffin.

Home runs also helped Louisville defeat Toledo 8 to 4. The Mud Hens led by 4 to 2 until the eighth when Wels and Brannon got four base wallops off [illegible].

CRACK TEAMS TO BE SIGNED FOR PLAY ON LINCOLN PARK FIELD

Open Season Either May 29 or 30. Climax Summer with Big Tourney

Sunday softball having been proven a grand success here last summer with the staging of the first annual central Ohio championship tournament, an effort will be made this season to stage regular Sunday softball games at the Lincoln park athletic field. Marion Hinklin, well known in sport circles here, has negotiated a lease with the city park commission for use of Lincoln park during the summer and will promote Sunday softball games at Lincoln park throughout the season.

Complete plans for the staging of the Sunday games have not been made but the tentative program calls for the opening day's program on either Sunday, May 29 or Monday, May 30, the latter date being Memorial day. From this time on regular week-end games will be staged at the North side park.

It is expected that several one day tournaments will be staged with three or four teams taking part. Preliminary plans have also been made for promoting the second annual central Ohio championship tournament in which approximately 20 of the classiest teams in this section of the state will compete. This tourney will be under the same management as last season. Several of the crack teams from this district including the Linden Gophers of Columbus, champions of last season, have indicated an intention of competing in the tourney this year. The starting date for the meet has not been announced.

Invitations have been extended to several high class diamond combines of central Ohio to compete in the opening conflicts on either the 29th or 30th. It is expected that one Marion team and three foreign teams will take part in the inaugural clashes.

Prior to the opening of the softball competition the grounds at Lincoln park will be given a complete going over. The diamond will be put into tip top condition and the grandstand thoroughly cleaned. Repair and cleaning work has already been started around the athletic field.

The teams which will take part in the first day's program are expected to be announced within a few days.

Only Two Games on Schedule for Today

There will be only two softball games played today instead of three as originally scheduled. The Epworth Seniors and United Brethren by mutual agreement will not play. First Reformed will meet Christian No. 1 at the Shovel athletic field and Forest Lawn will cross bats with Wesley M. E. at Lincoln park.

These games are postponed games of May 9. No date has been set for the playing of the Epworth Seniors-United Brethren game.

Defeated by Yale Okun, Chuck Wiggins broke a record when he claimed a foul for the first time in his long ring career.

Ohio State university rifle team has two members who have competed in international rifle matches.

Purdue university basketball teams have lost only five Big Ten games in 31 starts in the last three years.

Minor Leagues Plan Conference on Financial Readjustment

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 18.—Hard hit by unfavorable weather and the general economic situation, baseball's minor leagues plan a conference national in scope late this month to discuss ways and means of financial readjustment.

W. G. Bramham, chairman of the executive committee of the National Association of Professional baseball leagues, announced in Durham, N. C., last night the association would meet in two day session at Rochester, N. Y., May 22 and 23 for the purpose of effecting economies that will permit the minors to weather the storm.

A number of leagues are in a precarious condition financially, Bramham said, and there were indications that several [illegible] not continue to operate unless [illegible] readjustments are made.

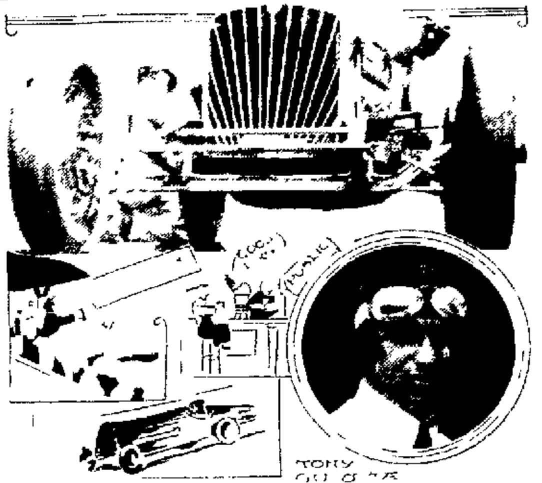
'SMILING TONY' ENTERS INDIANAPOLIS RACE



Tony Gulotta, one of the speedway's most skillful drivers and ever a favorite with the crowd, will have his supreme opportunity in the annual 500-mile race here this year.

Gulotta will drive the lead car of the five-car Studebaker team and will be captain of the stock car squad.

Driving a Studebaker powered Hunt Special last year Tony was leading the field with less than 100 miles to go when he ran afoul of an oil puddle and crashed through a guard rail.

In addition to breaking in his new car this year Tony will also be busy passing his experiences on to the other members of his Studebaker team. He recently split the driving duties with Luther Johnson, member of his team, in putting the first of the new Studebaker racers through a 600 mile test. The car averaged better than 102 miles an hour actual running time.

YANKS TAKE LEAGUE LEAD AS CLEVELAND LOSES THIRD IN ROW

Washington Slips and Browns Win Again. Cardinals Beat Boston.

By The Associated Press

Their hopes for a new all-time record for holding the opposition scoreless gone, the Yankees today bent their energies to winning the American league pennant.

And if ever a ball club looked like a champion in May it is Joe McCarthy's high powered outfit. Their closest rivals, the Washington Senators, have dropped three straight to St. Louis. Yesterday's 3 to 2 triumph over Cleveland while the Senators were losing to the Browns 11 to 2 put the McCarthymen a half game in front of the field.

Earl Averill, Cleveland [illegible], ruined the Yankees' hope for the shut out record when he hit a homer into the right field bleachers.

Mel Harder, Indian right hander, granted the Yankees only four hits but Ben Chapman's home run in the fourth with Gehrig on base tripped him up.

The Philadelphia Athletics bunched three singles with a wild throw in the seventh inning to beat the Detroit Tigers 2 to 0. George Earnshaw allowed only four hits. The Chicago White Sox made it three straight over Boston 7 to 3.

Bill Walker, New York Giant southpaw, lost his own game to Cincinnati 2 to 1 when he cut loose a wild throw past first on Manion's bunt in the tenth and Grantham scored from third base.

Pittsburgh made it two out of three over Brooklyn 3 to 1 as Bill Harris pitched scoreless ball for seven innings.

Philadelphia's Phillies blew sky high in the seventh inning and Chicago scored eight runs to win 9 to 4.

Pepper Martin returned to the Cardinals line-up after being out several weeks with a dislocated shoulder and drove in two runs with a double as Bill Hallahan bested Lefty Brandt in a hurling duel 4 to 3.

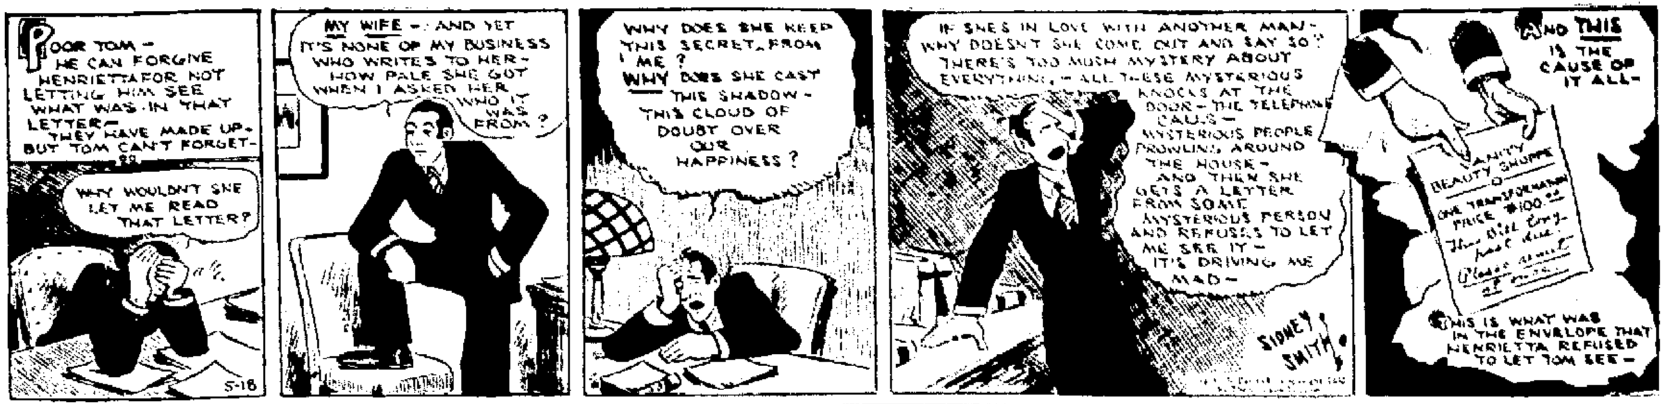
THE GUMPS

BY SIDNEY SMITH



POOR TOM — HE CAN FORGIVE HENRIETTA FOR NOT LETTING HIM SEE WHAT WAS IN THAT LETTER— THEY HAVE MADE UP— BUT TOM CAN'T FORGET—
WHY WOULDN'T SHE LET ME READ THAT LETTER?
5-18
MY WIFE — AND YET IT'S NONE OF MY BUSINESS WHO WRITES TO HER— HOW PALE SHE GOT WHEN I ASKED HER WHO IT WAS FROM ?
WHY DOES SHE KEEP THIS SECRET FROM ME ? WHY DOES SHE CAST THIS SHADOW— THIS CLOUD OF DOUBT OVER OUR HAPPINESS ?
IF SHE'S IN LOVE WITH ANOTHER MAN— WHY DOESN'T SHE COME OUT AND SAY SO? THERE'S TOO MUCH MYSTERY ABOUT EVERYTHING — ALL THESE MYSTERIOUS KNOCKS AT THE DOOR — THE TELEPHONE CALLS — MYSTERIOUS PEOPLE PROWLING AROUND THE HOUSE — AND THEN SHE GETS A LETTER FROM SOME MYSTERIOUS PERSON AND REFUSES TO LET ME SEE IT — IT'S DRIVING ME MAD —

SHE HASN'T SAID ANYTHING YET, CASPER, BUT SHE'S PROMISED TO SAY PLENTY AT THE TRIAL!
CASPER! THERE NEVER WAS A MORE FAITHFUL OR DEVOTED HUSBAND THAN MYSELF!
PUT 'ER THERE, OLD PAL! I'M WITH YOU, AND BESIDES, I WOULDN'T SAY THUMBS DOWN IF YOU HAD MADE A FEW MISTAKES IN THE PAST!
